

SPEAKING UP:

The FVPF's News and Tips for the Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Communities

FREE RESOURCE AVAILABLE!

Do you have the data you need on domestic and sexual violence as programs serving victims struggle to cope with budget cuts, as the financial stress on families rises? The news on funding the Violence Against Women Act? Ideas for simple, educational activities to hold during Domestic Violence Awareness Month? Talking points to help you handle media queries? The information you need to react quickly and effectively when someone accuses us of exaggerating the incidence of domestic violence, or charges that women initiate abuse more often than men do?

A free resource is now available for domestic violence and sexual assault programs! The Family Violence Prevention Fund's advocacy newsletter, Speaking Up, is a unique and powerful tool that provides the latest news and information from across the country and around the world. Speaking Up regularly analyzes the latest research, legislation, policy and cultural developments relating to violence against women. Its "In the News" section features the news in brief about violence against women, while "In Their Own Words" provides commentary from lawmakers, reporters, and advocates about current events affecting our community.
