

“He convinced
me that I couldn’t survive without
him and didn’t deserve to live
or be loved.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“He logs into my Facebook account and
posts embarrassing
pictures of me.
Everyone thinks I
am doing it myself
and leaves horrible
comments.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“First, it was just verbal abuse, ugly name-calling and yelling. Then he began to hit, push and strangle me.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“She would text me all day wanting to know where I was. Even when I was at work, if I didn’t respond immediately, she would think I was hiding something from her.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“Because I am a male everyone seems
to think it is funny
when I say my girlfriend hits me.
They don’t know that I’m really afraid.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“He expects sex
as part of my “duties” as a
wife – even when I’m not in the mood or it hurts.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic+ Violence
Awareness Month

“Everyday I heard, ‘You’re so stupid, you are lucky that I still love you.’”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“He follows me
everywhere,
to school, the store and even
to work.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“My boss said
that if he keeps coming around disturbing the customers I will lose my job.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“His name calling,
put downs, and
sneaking around
to read my texts
is somehow
always my fault.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“I have no one
left to turn to,
he has isolated
me from all
my family and friends. It is only
him and me.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month

“‘You will be homeless. Is that what you want? You and the kids – homeless?’ I didn’t want to be on the streets.”

#ThisIsDV

Domestic Violence
Awareness Month